PETITION FOR FARM BUREAU BEING PRESENTED TODAY

The petitions signed by Clearfield county citizens urging the establishment here of a farm bureau are being presented today to the trustees of State College by Attorney William H. Patterson, one of the originators of the farm bureau movement, and actively identified with the progress of it for the past three months. This will be the final action of the local committee until the petition is passed on by the state authorities and submitted to the federal department of agriculture for disposition by congress. If the matter is favorably considered, congress will make the necessary appropriation at its next session and funds will be available for the bureau at the beginning of the next fiscal year, July 1, 1916.

VESEVIVUS IS AGAIN IN VIOLENT ERUPTION

Rome, Nov. 6. (By United Press)—Vesuvius is again in violent eruption. Several villages are threatened today by advancing lava streams. Panic-stricken by their danger people are fleeing from towns and villages in the mountain regions. The roads are filled with fugitives carrying their belongings. Local officials have asked for troops to prevent looting, but the military authorities, on account of requirements on the Austrian fighting front, are unwilling to spare soldiers unless the situation becomes very serious. The whole country around the volcano is buried under a mass of ashes.

REQUEST FOR MORE TENANT HOUSES HAS WIDE CIRCULATION

Out-of-Town Firm Wants Prices On Ten Acres of Building Lots

Attractive Advertisement Appears in Last Issue of the Iron Age—New Invention Will be of Great Value to Farmers.

The last issue of Iron Age, October 28th, contains an attractive advertisement inviting manufacturers to investigate the advantages of Clearfield for the location of new plants contemplated. Attention is called to our exceptionally good shipping facilities, cheap fuel and power, splendid water, valuable clay deposits, convenience to raw materials and markets, and attractive factory sites. Clearfield's request for more tenant houses and homes for sale at prices attractive to working people has had a wide circulation and is bringing results. We are getting a number of houses of the kind needed and there is a better demand for lots. Inquiries are coming to the chamber of commerce from other cities. One party wants a price on ten acres "within five cent car fare limit of the center of town."

The chamber of commerce is in communication with a Philadelphia Mechanical engineer who has invented a farm tractor. The motor and wagon are so designed that they will do any farm work that a team will do, and do it better and cheaper. It can be adjusted to saw wood and perform other important mechanical duties on the farm. It will serve as a delivery truck in hauling produce to and from markets. The engineer has not only constructed the motor, but also the truck and all the parts for special farm work. It will not be a heavy financial proposition. Parties desiring to investigate this proposition with the view of becoming financially interested should get in touch with the chamber of commerce.

HOW THE GERMAN AND RUSSIAN CRIPPLED PRISONERS ARE EXCHANGED AT TORNEA SWEDEN

Through the good offices of Sweden, an arrangement has been concluded between Germany and Russia by which the severely wounded soldiers imprisoned in these two countries, who are crippled for life, are exchanged via Sweden. The exchange station is at Tornea, on the Gulf of Bothnia, where the Russian and Swedish frontiers meet. At regular intervals Russian and German nurses arrive here with their wounded charges. The Swedish nurses aid the work by taking charge of the cripples while the exchange is being effected. Then the Russian war nurses who brought wounded German war prisoners to Tornea, take back their injured countrymen brought there by the German nurses and vice versa. Picture at the top shows the German war prisoners leaving their hospital at Tornea after their exchange to cross over into Sweden. The lower photo shows the Russian war prisoners leaving the train to go to the hospital.

CLEARFIELD TEAM IN FINE CONDITION FOR DUBOIS GAME

Special Falls Through On Account of Financial Backing Received

DuBois Has Made Big Preparations For Reception of Clearfield Rooters—Many Will go to Game in Cars.

The special train which the students of the High school were trying to arrange for, to carry them to the DuBois game will not be run on account of the poor financial backing which they received. This will be a great disappointment to many of the students and townspeople as the game will be probably the best of the season. The DuBois High students had prepared a royal reception for the Clearfield who had expected to go to the field's special benefit, they had prepared a big street demonstration, including some interesting features according to the DuBois Morning Courier. It will not only be the Clearfield rooters who will be disappointed but also the special arrangements which they had made for us. The rooters of this town certainly appreciate the pains to which the DuBois rooters have gone to, in preparation for their reception and regret that they cannot run the special.

There will more than likely be a large number of people go to the game in automobiles, as a number have already expressed their desire to do so.

The Clearfield team is in the very best of condition, all the regulars who have been barred from several of the games, being eligible and are showing their old form. The team has been practicing hard and faithfully for the past week and have mastered several new plays which will be sprung on the unsuspecting DuBois team.

NATIONAL HORSE SHOW AT MADISON SQUARE OPENS

Aristocratic Society and Thoroughbred Will Be In Attendance

"Tone" of Show to be Decidedly Military—Picked Cavalry From Army To Display Skill.

New York, Nov. 5.—The aristocracy of American society and the thoroughbreds of horsemanship were having their gowns finally fitted and their coats finally groomed today in anticipation of the opening tomorrow of the first National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden in two years. The "tone" of the show will be decidedly military. In addition to the "military" trend of feminine frocks, frills and burlows, which will of course be the big feature of the show, not excluding the horses themselves, there will be much display of red-white-and-blue conservatively shot with the flags of all nations.

One of the biggest "horsey" features of the show will be the military classes, which will be judged by no less a personage than Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood; and not even Secretary Garrison can overrule him this time. The war department has co-operated with President Stotesbury on the association and other officials to notably demonstrate the efficiency of Uncle Sam's mounted men. Twenty-six picked cavalrymen will represent the regular army in the riding classes.

It is expected that many of those made suddenly wealthy, as a result of the munitions factories' effect upon the war babies of the stock exchange will be there, belligerently intent upon canonading their way into society via the riding stock.

Picked militiamen from New York and other states will compete with the army men in a series of riding events that will take up much of the show's six-day program. They will contest for the Beresford challenge cup presented by Lord Decies and for the Canadian challenge cup given by Sir Adams Beck, of London, Ontario.

Between the many new exhibitors, principally from the middle west, who have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars getting their "strings" together, there is expected to be war to the last felloek.

FIRST SESSION OF PUBLIC SPEAKING CLUB LAST NIGHT

Members Very Enthusiastic Over Class—Something Unique in Town

The Public Speaking club, organized by Mr. Lewis, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. held its first session last night in the class room in the Y. M. C. A. building. All present were very enthusiastic and expressed their intention of continuing in the work and on suggestion of Fred Betts, Esq., every member in attendance pledged himself to bring one new member to the next meeting.

After the class, each man was asked to make a few remarks concerning the club. In his remarks Mr. Betts said, "I am amazed and regard it as the best thing of its kind ever formed in Clearfield and my only regret is that the room is not filled". All the members endorsed his remarks with the greatest willingness.

The class is much more than a course in oratory, it could be fittingly called a course in mental development and is absolutely unique to this town. It will enable its members to write better business letters, sell their goods more easily, talk more fluently, read better and in a word increase personal efficiency.

In an interview with Mr. Bodine, secretary of the chamber of commerce he said: "The course will develop the power of concentration and the memory; it will teach any one how to do their work better, whether he be a travelling salesman, business man, or professional man. It will teach the people to apply themselves in their line of work and to get the highest efficiency from their own brain in their line. It develops sincerity and enthusiasm their work and best of all confidence in their ability to win out. The course will increase the vocabulary and improve choice of words and enable one to speak more forcibly and to express their ideas more clearly."

The next session will be held next Thursday night, November 11 and in order to enable new members to begin at the beginning, the first night's work will be renewed. With the strong endorsement of all the members there and all being very enthusiastic over the work the class room will probably be filled next week.

Among those who have already joined the club are: F. G. Betts, A. R. Hinkle, J. J. Twomey, S. W. McKelvey, W. P. Sheeder, R. I. Fulton, Samuel Powell, H. S. McClure and H. E. Bodine.

CHARLES ANDERSON OF WESTVILLE HAS FATAL ACCIDENT

Young Man Accidently Shot Himself When His Foot Slips From Log

Gun is Discharged and Contents of One Barrel Enters Side Puncturing Kidneys and Bowels—Dies in DuBois Hospital.

As a result of a hunting accident shortly before noon yesterday Charles Anderson, aged 25, of Westville, died at the DuBois hospital last night about 7:15 o'clock. The gun carried by Mr. Anderson was accidentally discharged, the contents of one barrel entering the side of the unfortunate young man, opening up a gaping wound near the thigh.

Mr. Anderson, in company with three other young men from Westville went hunting yesterday morning and after going some distance they separated, Mr. Anderson being at the time of the accident by himself. According to the story told by himself after the accident, he was standing on a log, when his foot slipped, throwing him to one side. As he slipped he drew the gun up along the log, the trigger catching on the log, causing the gun to be discharged.

The young man, although fatally injured, remained conscious and yelled to his companions who were at the time not far away from him. They heard the shot and his cries, and immediately ran to his assistance. They secured an automobile from a farmer and took him to his home where he was given medical attention, later removing him to the DuBois hospital on a special train which was made up on the Beachtree branch.

There was little hope for his recovery given from the beginning, it being ascertained that his kidneys and bowels were punctured. For most of the time he remained unconscious, but gradually grew weaker until he died at 7:15.

FOR ADVANCEMENT OF ENGINEERING

The interest of engineers of every section of the state is centered in the efforts of the Engineers' club of Philadelphia to make that institution the center of technical activities for the general advancement of engineering in Pennsylvania.

To this end the officers of the club have announced a four-day campaign for a thousand or more new members and engineers and technical men in the vicinity of Clearfield have been enlisted in the work. By means of letters and workers in this vicinity the campaign is being carried on locally and it is anticipated that a number of engineers hereabouts will become affiliated with the Philadelphia organization. This campaign starts on November eighth.

The Engineers' Club of Philadelphia, which has had a continuous and prosperous existence for thirty-seven years, has always been considered one of the best technical organizations in this country. Men of the highest engineering ability have been its presidents, and engineers of national reputation are among its members.

It stands for all that will benefit engineers and elevate the engineering profession. The technical papers, read at various meetings of the Club and published in the Proceedings, represent up-to-date and comprehensive knowledge of all branches of engineering endeavor.

Any one wishing to have names for a Catherinette or other

Athens, Nov. 6. (By United Press).—Two divisions of British troops on their way from Salonika today are in training to follow the Bulgarian force. The force by a short overland march can make this coming winter in Bulgaria from the south near Strumitza or continuing by rail reach the east border near the Aegean sea coast. In as much as French troops are already operating about Strumitza, the former disposition is deemed most likely.

It is considered certain that the plan is to halt the Bulgarians from their operations in Serbia by a formidable invasion of their own country. From the British forces moving in Bulgaria's direction it was assumed here that assurance had been reached of complete Russian arrangements to strike the Bulgarians from the northward.

The Romanian attitude is good from the Czar's standpoint, as permission to send his troops through Roumania since by a 150 mile journey by boat to the Danube a landing can be made on Bulgarian soil.

Athens, Nov. 6.—In approval of the attitude of General Yanakitsa war minister in the Zaimis cabinet, whose defense of ex-premier Venizelos' pro-war policy in Parliament Thursday precipitated the Greek cabinet's crisis, King Constantine today appointed Yanakitsa his aide de campe. King Constantine evidently means to defy the Greek war party.

When Premier Zaimis and his neutral cabinet resigned yesterday it was generally assumed immediately that ex-premier Venizelos, the war party leader, would return to office. Today, however, the entire press and everybody in political circles had reached the conclusion that his majesty would dissolve parliament instead of making Venizelos' premier again. Hints to this effect were understood to have been given by persons close to Constantine.

The King conferred separately today with all cabinet members following the minister's resignation. The result will be that Zaimis who has resigned will have to hold over for at least two months and for that time at least Greece will remain neutral. How violently this will be resented by the pro-war element was made plain by Venizelos in his speech at the time of the cabinet crisis.

MAKING MEN HONEST

Clearfield has taken another step forward in the establishment of a credit rating bureau, formed by the wholesale and retail merchants, insurance men, and other business men having extensive dealings with large groups of customers.

This organization is designed to guide business men in opening new accounts, and to aid them in clearing from their books accounts which they have carried over the normal period of credit. Its operation will be a complete check on the trading public, and is expected to work out to the benefit of buyers and sellers alike.

The purposes of this organization should not be misunderstood by anyone coming in contact with it. Honest men have nothing to fear from it, and it is to be an ever present inspiration to those careless souls who constantly abuse credit to curb their desire to buy anything and everything for which they do not have to pay cash. It will be a thorn in the side of the habitual dead-beat, and will drive him either to fresher fields or to settle up his delinquent accounts.

As a moral influence, the credit rating bureau will be strongly felt just as soon as it is in full operation, and as such it is deserving of full support and sympathy.

BIRDS IN THE SERVICE OF MARS.

Both the horse and the elephant were used in war from the earliest times, and in our own period until recently the faithful mule was the chief burden-bearer employed. The proposition to harness also the abilities of pigeons, crows and hens suggests opera bouffe, but, according to the Boston Transcript, it has been seriously made by a German writer. As the sight of birds is far less than that of men, and as pigeons and barnyard fowls are the most available and easily trained, it is proposed to employ them as sentinels to announce the approach of hostile aeroplanes from the sky.

In order to train these feathered creatures for this branch of military service, it is proposed that they be placed where the air machines descend and that the aviator, the moment he lands, shall rush at them and beat them with a stick. This is expected to inspire in them as great fear of aeroplanes as of hawks and cause them to announce a hostile approach from the sky long before it would otherwise be possible for soldiers to take alarm. It is also proposed to train for similar military service the wise and watchful crow whose eyes are said to be not only incredibly far-seeing but so constituted as to enable him to see "in front and behind" at the same time. The reader inclined to smile over the gravely stated details of this proposition, suspecting that the real object is humor, may be reminded that, in view of the history of the past year, no military proposition whatsoever that originates in Germany can be lightly dismissed.

THE FAILURE IN THE DARDANELLES.

When the Dardanelles campaign was undertaken seven months ago it was regarded by some as the most interesting development of the great war. World-old history was repeated when the nations began to fight once more where Agamemnon led the heroes of youthful Greece against the hosts of Ilium, where Xerxes crossed with his million Persians into Europe, where the fate of the naval empire of Athens was decided, where the first Christian emperor of Rome founded a new capital, and where a later Asiatic invasion gave the Ottoman empire a foothold in Europe that has been held for nearly five hundred years.

Interest was increased when the news came that French warships were cruising off the mouth of the Helles stream Scamander and it was reported that an Anglo-French landing party had defeated a large body of Turks on the plains of Troy. History seemed to be repeating to its earliest sources, and it was confidently expected that still another titanic and decisive struggle would be added to those already fought in the land of Homer's Iliad.

This last of the long series of campaigns in and about the Dardanelles, with its employment of great guns such as the ancients and medievals never dreamed of, may indeed be called titanic in a sense, but it has been so indecisive, so ineffectual on the part of the Allies, that Sir Ian Hamilton, their chief commander, has been called home, and there is even talk of abandoning the undertaking as virtually impossible and as a ruinous waste of strength. The Turks, aided by German science, still hold their stronger fortifications at every point. Ashmead Bartlett, the correspondent of the London papers, has told thrilling stories of daring and persistent struggle, but the allied forces, approaching from the low seacoast, have been unable to take the fortified hills and have suffered cruelly in attempting to do so.

The moral effect of abandonig this undertaking, after so many months and after such great sacrifices, could not fail to be damaging, but Mr. Bartlett may be right in holding that no more strength should be wasted in vain when it can be applied with better results elsewhere. According to this correspondent from the scene, even if the Dardanelles campaign "ever had any hope of success," there is no hope now, and the whole question should be reconsidered. He contends that retirement would involve no loss of prestige on account of the courage, tenacity and desperate fighting of the allied troops; he attacks English politicians, hints at ignorance and misconceptions in the British Foreign Office at the outset, and attests the fighting ability of the Turks—ability that may have been underestimated in both England and France. He also speaks vaguely of blunders in carrying out the plan, and says that few of those engaged in the undertaking "had any knowledge of the Turks' fighting qualities or of the geography of the country."

Whether the Dardanelles campaign has failed because of blunders or because the virtually impossible was undertaken, there would seem to be no doubt that the preliminary investigation and preparation were inadequate.

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Saloniki, where the Allied troops directed to the aid of Serbia disembarked, is one of the first ports of southeastern Europe, and its annexation by Greece after the war of the Balkan League with the Turks was a bitter disappointment to those enthusiastic Bulgarians who dream of re-establishing Bulgarian hegemony in Eastern Europe," says a war primer, which describes the port destined to play a vital part in the Allies, organization of the new war theatre. "The port lies only about 1400 miles south of Sofia, the capital of Bulgaria, and for years the Greeks and Bulgarians vigorously contested with one another this particular legacy from the Turk. Their Macedonian 'committees' carried national schools, churches and philanthropical societies to Saloniki; and, when the work of converting the residents became more serious, they carried fire and sword."

"With a population of 130,000 and an annual commerce, excluding its coast-wise trade, to the value of $18,000,000, Saloniki is one of the most important cities in all southeastern Europe. It was a prize well worth the strenuous efforts made by the Bulgarians and Greeks. A great part of the exports from Bulgaria, southern Serbia and northern Greece pour through this port, while many of the imports for the same areas are distributed from here. The chief exports are grain, animals, animal products, star of roses, silk cocoons, wool, tobacco; opium and manganese. The imports are sugar, coffee, chemicals, machinery, textiles and iron goods. Moreover, Saloniki has thriving manufactures of morocco leather, arms and cutlery, and cotton yarn. Austria-Hungary and Great Britain held first places in this commerce. "The city is built on a sheltered

ARGUMENT FOR RACE SUICIDE.

New York, Nov. 5.—Sociologists and members of the medical profession displayed a lively interest in the first presentation of "The Unborn," a play by Beulah Poynter, scheduled to be given at one of the New York theatres this afternoon. The new play promises to present an argument for race suicide. Its hero is a young wife who, because of a leprous and alcoholic strain in her blood, would have no offspring, and is distressed on the approach of motherhood, she pleads that prevent birth. The plea is made by the son who is born develops a she had feared.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

(Written for the United Press.)

Oh where are the terrors of suburbs? Commuting, oh where is thy sting? Since wife wears two in one garments

The joys of the country we sing.

New York, Nov. 5.—Hurrah for the garment that leads a double life.

It may sound as if it were suitable for only the two faced woman, but indeed all and every woman hails it with delight, the Queen of the Commuters in particular.

You see it's a costume fashioned with a long, loose coat over a short, full skirt, giving thereby the simple appearance of a very smart and modish suit.

But be not deceived! When milady unbuttons said coat the double dealing is at once revealed. She stands forth resplendent in a stunning, semi-decollette afternoon or restaurant gown of delicate pastel tint. A deep facing of the same dark toned material as the coat around the bottom of the skirt is the link between two complete costumes in one, the key to the sartorial situation.

It is deep enough to reach up to the coat when that is donned and effect the perfect picture of a suit and yet, with the coat removed, the dark, deep skirtband lends richness to the dinner frock exposed, the bodice of which has touches of the same dark toned material to balance up the second of the two in one costumes.

A perfect toilette indeed for the commuter's bride. She can come in early and do her shopping in a fitting and fitted suit and then when fond husband asks her to stay in town to dinner and go to the theatre afterwards, she may accept with perfect equanimity and a perfect frock.

Hubby is always bound to ask her, too, when he sees what a ravishing toilette she has up her coat sleeve. Oh, no commuter's home should be without one of these two fold blessed frocks.

Another bit of double dealing that Dame Fashion is up to this season is an evening gown that becomes its own wrap. It also becomes its own wearer very much.

Fashioned of the fluffy tulle or the new "sole de soir," it is made with a detachable satin or velvet train falling from the shoulders in back and a like straight panel falling from the corsage in front. This train is so devised as to drape around the shoulders and fasten to the front panel, thereby forming an effective evening wrap.

This gown even goes one better and adds a third to its changing charms. By shedding the panel and train all together; presto, change! Another complete frock is displayed. A most triumphant triumphate, truly is this triotlet toilette.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

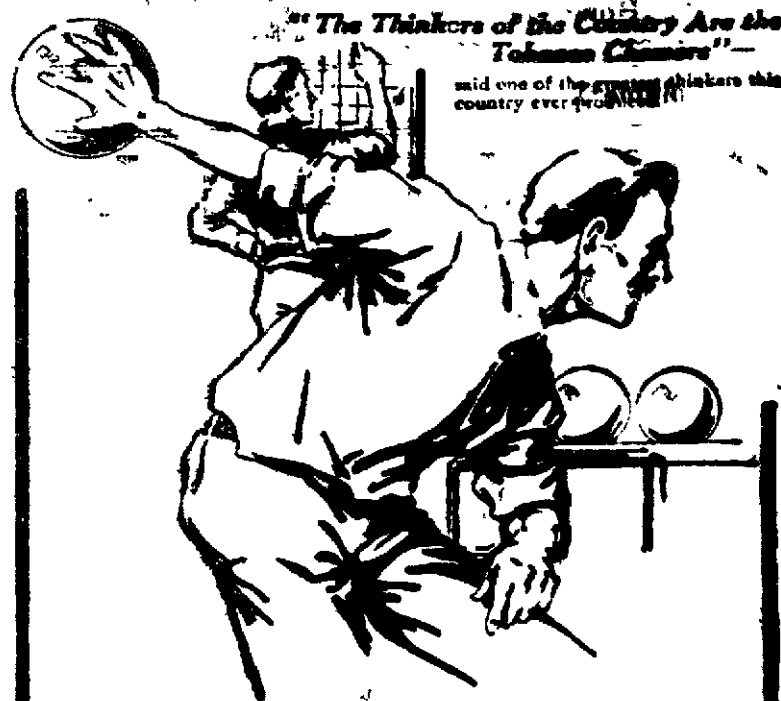

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generate poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone a enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or a raw, raw tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, a yellow complexion, others with bilious attacks, acid stomach, constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

FOOTBALL NOTES

TOMORROW'S GAMES

W. & J. vs. Pitt at Pittsburgh.
Swarthmore vs. Lafayette at Easton.
Lehigh vs. Penn State, at State College.
Penn vs. Dartmouth at Boston.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 5.—With Princeton, Cornell, Pitt, Colgate and Wash. Jeff held aloft by eastern critics as the five best foot ball teams in the eastern pigskin world, the struggle tomorrow afternoon at Forbes field between the blue and gold and W. & J. warriors is bound to lessen prestige of one of the two teams. The battle probably will be one of the rarest seen by pigskin fandom this year.

Dopesters today are figuring just how much Pitt has improved in offensive, particularly the forward pass, since her game with Allegheny last Saturday and just how much of a margin, if any, the blue and gold will have over the boys who will be hoisted, boosted and hailed as victors at the annual Alumni W. & J. banquet at the Fort Pitt hotel tonight.

Pitt followers are pointing out that the days of Spiegel and Fleming are no more. These two players in 1913 amazed the foot ball fandom. Spiegel was classed as one of the greatest offensive halfbacks. Fleming was ranked as a wonder at defensive backfielding.

Pitt has the hardest road toward victory. Should W. & J. take the long end of the count, she would be assured of her ranking, as the remainder of the W. & J. schedule is not difficult. But the blue and gold must beat both W. & J. and State, to achieve the heights.

The advance talk during the week on the Lehigh-State game seems to be with the State boys. Yet it is in the Lehigh boys to put up a winning fight. Swarthmore will be given the hard test tomorrow when she locks horns with Lafayette. Lafayette is a rapid machine and it's doubtful, according to the dope, is Swarthmore can claim victory. Dartmouth, in her game with Pennsylvania, should have no trouble whatever in handling the Quakers, when Penn's list of defeats is looked over.

NO BRING BACK LIBERTY BELL

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—A committee of members of the Philadelphia city council leaves today for San Francisco to escort the famous Liberty Bell back to its resting place in Independence Hall. During the summer the venerated relic has been on exhibition at the Panama-Pacific exposition, where it has been viewed by millions of visitors from all parts of the country.

The bell is to leave San Francisco November 11 for its return trip to Philadelphia. As on the journey westward across the continent an opportunity will be given the people of every state to view the historic relic. A stop of two days will be made at the San Diego exposition. Thence the route will be to Los Angeles, Maricopa, El Paso, San Antonio, Austin, Waco, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and New Orleans. Coming north from the latter city the train, according to present arrangements, will stop at Memphis, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Youngstown and Pittsburgh. From Pittsburgh a detour probably will be made into New York state on the way to Philadelphia.

All members of the O. U. A. M. are requested to meet at the club rooms at 10 o'clock next Sunday morning, November 7 to attend the West Side M. E. church in a body. N. L. S. 6

ROCKEFELLER, JR.'S OPINION.

New York, Nov. 4.—(By United Press.)—Concerning the new eugenic play, "The Unborn," produced in New York today by physicians and philanthropists, John D. Rockefeller, Jr. said:

"For the first time in dramatic history the perplexing problem of the limitation of undesirable offspring which has been engaging the attention of thoughtful eugenicists and sociologists the world over is dealt with on the stage in the play that we are to produce. The right of the child to be well-born and the right of the wife to decide about it are problems the solution of which society can no longer ignore."

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 4.—(By United Press.)—Winona Assembly, the big Presbyterian chautauque and religious assembly institution of which W. J. Bryan will soon become president, was placed on the auction block again today. This was one of the last steps necessary to the establishment of the "sound financial basis" demanded by Bryan.

BASE BALL MAGNATES OFF FOR COAST.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—The moguls of the base ball world, including representatives of nearly all the leagues big and little, depart from Chicago tonight on a special train bound for

San Francisco. The club owners and officials included in the party will attend the fourteenth annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Base Ball Leagues, which is to be held in the exposition city beginning next Tuesday. The base ball men expect the meeting to be one of the most important in the history of the association, inasmuch as the poor financial showing of many leagues and clubs the past two years will necessitate many re-adjustments.

THOUSANDS SEEK HOME-STEADS.

Minot, N. D., Nov. 4.—Thousands of homesteaders were on hand here today for the beginning of the drawing of the Per Berthold reservation lands. These lands, amounting to 110,000 acres, have been opened to homestead settlement by order of the department of the interior. The lands at the time of the original opening of the Fort Berthold reservation four years ago were reserved by the government because of the presence of considerable coal deposits, but recently the department of the interior decided to open the lands to surface homesteading, the only reservation being that the title to any coal existing therein shall remain with the government for the benefit of the Indians of the Fort Berthold district.

The Government Says This About Portland Cement:

"Many brands of Portland cement are on the market, from which the farmer should select some well-known make, guaranteed by the local dealer to meet the standard specifications for cement of the U. S. Government."

"Portland" means merely a class of cement, just as "pine" means a class of lumber. Both may be fair, good, or very select. Don't risk using a cement of only fair quality. Insure permanent concrete by using only

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmothers' time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out, or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is miss-out-of-date. Nowadays buy ask any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of Grandma's Sage and Sulphur. "Grandma's" you will get this full old recipe which can be used upon to restore natural color to beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it is the only hair restorer and colorer that is natural and does not wash out. It has been used by thousands of women for years and is the only one that does not wash out.

The Elk Hose Company Soon to Receive Their New Auto Chemical and Hose Truck

The Elk Hose Co. received word that their Auto Chemical and Hose truck will be shipped Saturday, November 6, 1915. It will arrive in Clearfield about Thursday, Nov. 11. This car is being built by the Harwood-Barley Manufacturing Co., of Marion Indiana. It is a type M, two ton, Indiana truck, mounted with the following fire fighting equipment.

- Two 35 gallon Holloway Soda and Acid tanks.
- One curved steel body for 1000 feet of 2 1/2 in. Hose and cushioned seats for 8 men in body, 2 men on driver's seat, 3 on rear platform.
- Two 3 gallon chemical tanks.
- One 6 pound fire axe with pick head.
- One 8 pound fire axe with pick head.
- One crow bar
- Two play pipe holders.
- One 200 foot capacity reel for 3-4 in. chemical hose
- 200 feet 3-4 in. chemical hose and nozzle.
- Four Dietz King tabular lanterns.
- One 12 foot roof ladder with folding hooks.
- One 20 foot extension ladder.
- One whistle for exhaust pipe.
- One 10 in. rotary multiple ringing foot gong.
- Five front electric lights and generator, speed 30 miles per hour.
- Painted Fire Department red with gold lettering, "Elk Hose Co., Clearfield, Pa."

The new truck will be a modern equipped piece of fire fighting apparatus. The same equipment is being used by many of the large cities in connection with the steamers and autopumping cars. This new chemical truck will give Clearfield a much better fire protection and The Elk Hose Co. should receive good support from the people as the money to pay for it is being raised by public subscription when the truck arrives the firemen will call to see you in their new car and ask you to help them finance it. They have received good support from the manufacturing plants of Clearfield, which is proof that it is a much needed protection for Clearfield. The boys are preparing for a public demonstration. Watch the papers for the time, place and date as this will be a real treat to see this car in actual service. The entire Fire department with complete apparatus will parade some evening. All firemen are to watch for the call of the chief for this demonstration and parade. The car was bought through the local representative of the Harwood-Barley Manufacturing Company, Chief Burgess Hobart Callahan. Mr. Callahan got the Elk Hose Co., a special price on this car of $3150, F. O. B., Marion, Indiana, and the company would not except an order for another one at that price. Watch the papers for further notice and be prepared to give the boys one big lift as this is a big task, but a greater protection to Clearfield against the Demon, "Fire."

VESEVIVUS IS AGAIN IN VIOLENT ERUPTION

Rome, Nov. 6. (By United Press)—Vesuvius is again in violent eruption. Several villages are threatened today by advancing lava streams. Panic-stricken by their danger people are fleeing from towns and villages in the mountain regions. The roads are filled with fugitives carrying their belongings.

Local officials have asked for troops to prevent the military authorities, but the military authorities, the Austrian fighting front, are unwilling to spare soldiers unless the situation becomes very serious. The whole country around the volcano is buried under a mass of ashes.

REQUEST FOR MORE TENANT HOUSES HAS WIDE CIRCULATION

Out-of-Town Firm Wants Prices On Ten Acres of Building Lots

Attractive Advertisement Appears in Last Issue of the Iron Age—New Invention Will be of Great Value to Farmers.

The last issue of Iron Age, October 28th, contains an attractive advertisement inviting manufacturers to investigate the advantages of Clearfield for the location of new plants contemplated. Attention is called to our exceptionally good shipping facilities, cheap fuel and power, splendid water, valuable clay deposits, convenience to raw materials and markets, and attractive factory sites.

Clearfield's request for more tenant houses and homes for sale at prices attractive to working people has had a wide circulation and is bringing results. We are getting a number of houses of the kind needed and there is a better demand for lots. Inquiries are coming to the chamber of commerce from other cities. One party wants a price on ten acres "within five cent car fare limit of the center of town."

The chamber of commerce is in communication with a Philadelphia Mechanical engineer who has invented a farm tractor. The motor and wagon are so designed that they will do any farm work that a team will do, and do it better and cheaper. It can be adjusted to saw wood and perform other important mechanical duties on the farm. It will serve as a delivery truck in hauling produce to and from markets. The engineer has not only constructed the motor, but also the truck and all the parts for special farm work. It will not be a heavy financial proposition. Parties desiring to investigate this proposition with the view of becoming financially interested should get in touch with the chamber of commerce.

HOW THE GERMAN AND RUSSIAN CRIPPLED PRISONERS ARE EXCHANGED AT TORNEA SWEDEN

Through the good offices of Sweden, an arrangement has been concluded between Germany and Russia by which the severely wounded soldiers imprisoned in these two countries, who are crippled for life, are exchanged via Sweden. The exchange station is at Tornea, on the Gulf of Bothnia, where the Russian and Swedish frontiers meet. At regular intervals Russian and German nurses arrive here with their wounded charges. The Swedish nurses aid the work by taking charge of the cripples while the exchange is being effected. Then the Russian war nurses who brought wounded German war prisoners to Tornea, take back their injured countrymen brought there by the German nurses and vice versa. CLEARFIELD TEAM IN FINE CONDITION FOR DUBOIS GAME

Special Falls Through On Account of Financial Backing Received

DuBois Has Made Big Preparations For Reception of Clearfield Rooters—Many Will go to Game in Cars.

The special train which the students of the High school were trying to arrange for, to carry them to the DuBois game will not be run on account of the poor financial backing which they received. This will be a great disappointment to many of the students and townspeople as the game will be probably the best of the season.

The DuBois High students had prepared a royal reception for the Clearfield who had expected to go to the field's special benefit, they had prepared a big street demonstration, including some interesting features according to the DuBois Morning Courier.

It will not only be the Clearfield rooters who will be disappointed but also the special arrangements which they had made for us. The rooters of this town certainly appreciate the pains to which the DuBois rooters have gone to, in preparation for their reception and regret that they cannot run the special.

There will more than likely be a large number of people go to the game in automobiles, as a number have already expressed their desire to do so.

The Clearfield team is in the very best of condition, all the regulars who have been barred from several of the games, being eligible and are showing their old form. The team has been practicing hard and faithfully for the past week and have mastered several new plays which will be sprung on the unsuspecting DuBois team.

NATIONAL HORSE SHOW AT MADISON SQUARE OPENS

Aristocratic Society and Thoroughbred Will Be In Attendance

"Tone" of Show to be Decidedly Military—Picked Cavalry From Army To Display Skill.

New York, Nov. 5.—The aristocracy of American society and the thoroughbreds of horsemanship were having their gowns finally fitted and their coats finally groomed today in anticipation of the opening tomorrow of the first National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden in two years.

The "tone" of the show will be decidedly military. In addition to the "military" trend of feminine frocks, frills and burlap, which will of course be the big feature of the show, not excluding the horses themselves, there will be much display of red-white-and-blue conservatively shot with the flags of all nations.

One of the biggest "horse" features of the show will be the military classes, which will be judged by no less a personage than Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood; and not even Secretary Garrison can overrule him this time. The war department has co-operated with President Stotesbury on the association and other officials to notably demonstrate the efficiency of Uncle Sam's mounted men. Twenty-six picked cavalrymen will represent the regular army in the riding classes.

It is expected that many of those made suddenly wealthy, as a result of the munitions factories' effect upon the war babies of the stock exchange will be there, belligerently intent upon canonading their way into society via the riding stock.

Picked militiamen from New York and other states will compete with the army men in a series of riding events that will take up much of the show's six-day program. They will contest for the Beresford challenge cup presented by Lord Decies and for the Canadian challenge cup given by Sir Adams Beck, of London, Ontario.

Between the many new exhibitors, principally from the middle west, who have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars getting their "strings" together, there is expected to be war to the last felloek.

So you see, the Horse Show this year will be, as you might say, all there but the bullets.

GIANT CHRYSANTHEMUM GOES WEST TODAY.

FIRST SESSION OF PUBLIC SPEAKING CLUB LAST NIGHT

Members Very Enthusiastic Over Class—Something Unique in Town

The Public Speaking club, organized by Mr. Lewis, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. held its first session last night in the class room in the Y. M. C. A. building. All present were very enthusiastic and expressed their intention of continuing in the work and on suggestion of Fred Betts, Esq., every member in attendance pledged himself to bring one new member to the next meeting.

After the class, each man was asked to make a few remarks concerning the club. In his remarks Mr. Betts said, "I am amazed and regard it as the best thing of its kind ever formed in Clearfield and my only regret is that the room is not filled". All the members endorsed his remarks with the greatest willingness.

The class is much more than a course in oratory, it could be fittingly called a course in mental development and is absolutely unique to this town. It will enable its members to write better business letters, sell their goods more easily, talk more fluently, read better and in a word increase personal efficiency.

In an interview with Mr. Bodine, secretary of the chamber of commerce he said: "The course will develop the power of concentration and the memory; it will teach any one how to do their work better, whether he be a travelling salesman, business man, or professional man. It will teach the people to apply themselves in their line of work and to get the highest efficiency from their own brain in their line. It develops sincerity and enthusiasm their work and best of all confidence in their ability to win out. The course will increase the vocabulary and improve choice of words and enable one to speak more forcibly and to express their ideas more clearly."

The next session will be held next Thursday night, November 11 and in order to enable new members to begin at the beginning, the first night's work will be renewed. With the strong endorsement of all the members there and all being very enthusiastic over the work the class room will probably be filled next week.

Among those who have already joined the club are: F. G. Betts, A. R. Hinkle, J. J. Twomey, S. W. McKelvey, W. P. Sheeder, R. I. Fulton, Samuel Powell, H. S. McClure and H. E. Bodine.

CHARLES ANDERSON OF WESTVILLE HAS FATAL ACCIDENT

Young Man Accidently Shot Himself When His Foot Slips From Log

Gun is Discharged and Contents of One Barrel Enters Side Puncturing Kidneys and Bowels—Dies in DuBois Hospital.

As a result of a hunting accident shortly before noon yesterday Charles Anderson, aged 25, of Westville, died at the DuBois hospital last night about 7:15 o'clock. The gun carried by Mr. Anderson was accidentally discharged, the contents of one barrel entering the side of the unfortunate young man, opening up a gaping wound near the thigh.

Mr. Anderson, in company with three other young men from Westville went hunting yesterday morning and after going some distance they separated, Mr. Anderson being at the time of the accident by himself. According to the story told by himself after the accident, he was standing on a log, when his foot slipped, throwing him to one side. As he slipped he drew the gun up along the log, the trigger catching on the log, causing the gun to be discharged.

The young man, although fatally injured, remained conscious and yelled to his companions who were at the time not far away from him. They heard the shot and his cries, and immediately ran to his assistance. They secured an automobile from a farmer and took him to his home where he was given medical attention, later removing him to the DuBois hospital on a special train which was made up on the Beachtree branch.

There was little hope for his recovery given from the beginning, it being ascertained that his kidneys and bowels were punctured. For most of the time he remained unconscious, but gradually grew weaker until he died at 7:15.

FOR ADVANCEMENT OF ENGINEERING

The interest of engineers of every section of the state is centered in the efforts of the Engineers' club of Philadelphia to make that institution the center of technical activities for the general advancement of engineering in Pennsylvania.

To this end the officers of the club have announced a four-day campaign for a thousand or more new members and engineers and technical men in the vicinity of Clearfield have been enlisted in the work. By means of letters and workers in this vicinity the campaign is being carried on locally and it is anticipated that a number of engineers hereabouts will become affiliated with the Philadelphia organization. This campaign starts on November eighth.

The Engineers' Club of Philadelphia, which has had a continuous and prosperous existence for thirty-seven years, has always been considered one of the best technical organizations in this country. Men of the highest engineering ability have been its presidents, and engineers of national reputation are among its members.

It stands for all that will benefit engineers and elevate the engineering profession. The technical papers, read at various meetings of the Club and published in the Proceedings, represent up-to-date and comprehensive knowledge of all branches of engineering endeavor.

AMATEUR BOXERS TO BOX ALL WINTER.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 5.—(By United Press).—Pittsburgh's amateur boxing season will open tonight. Tournaments will be held throughout the winter.

Athens, Nov. 6. (By United Press).—Two divisions of British troops on their way from Salonika today are in training to follow the Bulgarian force. The force by a short overland march can make this coming winter in Bulgaria from the south near Strumitza or continuing by rail reach the east border near the Aegean sea coast. In as much as French troops are already operating about Strumitza, the former disposition is deemed most likely.

It is considered certain that the plan is to halt the Bulgarians from their operations in Serbia by a formidable invasion of their own country. From the British forces moving in Bulgaria's direction it was assumed here that assurance had been reached of complete Russian arrangements to strike the Bulgarians from the northward.

The Romanian attitude is good from the Czar's standpoint, as permission to send his troops through Roumania since by a 150 mile journey by boat to the Danube a landing can be made on Bulgarian soil.

Athens, Nov. 6.—In approval of the attitude of General Yanakitsa war minister in the Zaimis cabinet, whose defense of ex-premier Venizelos' war policy in Parliament Thursday precipitated the Greek cabinet's crisis, King Constantine today appointed Yanakitsa his aide de campe. King Constantine evidently means to defy the Greek war party.

When Premier Zaimis and his neutral cabinet resigned yesterday it was generally assumed immediately that ex-premier Venizelos, the war party leader, would return to office. Today, however, the entire press and everybody in political circles had reached the conclusion that his majesty would dissolve parliament instead of making Venizelos premier again. Hints to this effect were understood to have been given by persons close to Constantine.

The King conferred separately today with all cabinet members following the minister's resignation. The result will be that Zaimis who has resigned will have to hold over for at least two months and for that time at least Greece will remain neutral. How violently this will be resented by the pro-war element was made plain by Venizelos in his speech at the time of the cabinet crisis.

BISHOP O'GORMAN'S JUBILEE.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 5.—Today marked the sacerdotal jubilee of the Rt. Rev. Thomas O'Gorman, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Sioux Falls. Fifty years ago today the bishop was ordained to the priesthood, after completing this theological studies in France. His first pastorate was in Rochester, Minn. From 1878 to 1882 he was a member of the Paulist community in New York. In the latter year he returned to Minnesota to become pastor of a church at Faribault. In 1886 he became first president of the College of St. Thomas. From 1890 until he became bishop of Sioux Falls in 1896, he filled the chair of modern church history at the Catholic University in Washington.

BIRTHDAY OF NOTED EDUCATOR.

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—Dr. William O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University and one of the most widely known educators in America, celebrated his sixtieth birthday today. Dr. Thompson was trained for the Presbyterian ministry and filled several pastorates until 1886, when he quit the pulpit to accept the presidency of Longmont College in Colorado. In 1891 he became president of Miami University and eight years later he was called to the presidency of Ohio State University.

Beginning Monday, November 8th and every day thereafter except Sunday, the Woman's Club will have a "rest" at 15c lunch from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. at the "rest" street.

MAKING MEN HONEST

Clearfield has taken another step forward in the establishment of a credit rating bureau, formed by the wholesale and retail merchants, insurance men, and other business men having extensive dealings with large groups of customers.

This organization is designed to guide business men in opening new accounts, and to aid them in clearing from their books accounts which they have carried over the normal period of credit. Its operation will be a complete check on the trading public, and is expected to work out to the benefit of buyers and sellers alike.

The purposes of this organization should not be misunderstood by anyone coming in contact with it. Honest men have nothing to fear from it, and it is to be an ever present inspiration to those careless souls who constantly abuse credit to curb their desire to buy anything and everything for which they do not have to pay cash. It will be a thorn in the side of the habitual dead-beat, and will drive him either to fresher fields or to settle up his delinquent accounts.

As a moral influence, the credit rating bureau will be strongly felt just as soon as it is in full operation, and as such it is deserving of full support and sympathy.

BIRDS IN THE SERVICE OF MARS.

Both the horse and the elephant were used in war from the earliest times, and in our own period until recently the faithful mule was the chief burden-bearer employed. The proposition to harness also the abilities of pigeons, crows and hens suggests opera bouffe, but, according to the Boston Transcript, it has been seriously made by a German writer. As the sight of birds is far less than that of men, and as pigeons and barnyard fowls are the most available and easily trained, it is proposed to employ them as sentinels to announce the approach of hostile aeroplanes from the sky.

In order to train these feathered creatures for this branch of military service, it is proposed that they be placed where the air machines descend and that the aviator, the moment he lands, shall rush at them and beat them with a stick. This is expected to inspire in them as great fear of aeroplanes as of hawks and cause them to announce a hostile approach from the sky long before it would otherwise be possible for soldiers to take alarm. It is also proposed to train for similar military service the wise and watchful crow whose eyes are said to be not only incredibly far-seeing but so constituted as to enable him to see "in front and behind" at the same time. The reader inclined to smile over the gravely stated details of this proposition, suspecting that the real object is humor, may be reminded that, in view of the history of the past year, no military proposition whatsoever that originates in Germany can be lightly dismissed.

THE FAILURE IN THE DARDANELLES.

When the Dardanelles campaign was undertaken seven months ago it was regarded by some as the most interesting development of the great war. World-old history was repeated when the nations began to fight once more where Agamemnon led the heroes of youthful Greece against the hosts of Ilium, where Xerxes crossed with his million Persians into Europe, where the fate of the naval empire of Athens was decided, where the first Christian emperor of Rome founded a new capital, and where a later Asiatic invasion gave the Ottoman empire a foothold in Europe that has been held for nearly five hundred years.

Interest was increased when the news came that French warships were cruising off the mouth of the Helles stream Scamander and it was reported that an Anglo-French landing party had defeated a large body of Turks on the plains of Troy. History seemed to be repeating to its earliest sources, and it was confidently expected that still another titanic and decisive struggle would be added to those already fought in the land of Homer's Iliad.

This last of the long series of campaigns in and about the Dardanelles, with its employment of great guns such as the ancients and medievals never dreamed of, may indeed be called titanic in a sense, but it has been so indecisive, so ineffectual on the part of the Allies, that Sir Ian Hamilton, their chief commander, has been called home, and there is even talk of abandoning the undertaking as virtually impossible and as a ruinous waste of strength. The Turks, aided by German science, still hold their stronger fortifications at every point. Ashmead Bartlett, the correspondent of the London papers, has told thrilling stories of daring and persistent struggle, but the allied forces, approaching from the low seacoast, have been unable to take the fortified hills and have suffered cruelly in attempting to do so.

The moral effect of abandonig this undertaking, after so many months and after such great sacrifices, could not fail to be damaging, but Mr. Bartlett may be right in holding that no more strength should be wasted in vain when it can be applied with better results elsewhere. According to this correspondent from the scene, even if the Dardanelles campaign "ever had any hope of success," there is no hope now, and the whole question should be reconsidered. He contends that retirement would involve no loss of prestige on account of the courage, tenacity and desperate fighting of the allied troops; he attacks English politicians, hints at ignorance and misconceptions in the British Foreign Office at the outset, and attests the fighting ability of the Turks—ability that may have been underestimated in both England and France. He also speaks vaguely of blunders in carrying out the plan, and says that few of those engaged in the undertaking "had any knowledge of the Turks' fighting qualities or of the geography of the country."

Whether the Dardanelles campaign has failed because of blunders or because the virtually impossible was undertaken, there would seem to be no doubt that the preliminary investigation and preparation were inadequate.

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Saloniki, where the Allied troops directed to the aid of Serbia disembarked, is one of the first ports of southeastern Europe, and its annexation by Greece after the war of the Balkan League with the Turks was a bitter disappointment to those enthusiastic Bulgarians who dream of re-establishing Bulgarian hegemony in Eastern Europe," says a war primer, which describes the port destined to play a vital part in the Allies, organization of the new war theatre. "The port lies only about 1400 miles south of Sofia, the capital of Bulgaria, and for years the Greeks and Bulgarians vigorously contested with one another this particular legacy from the Turk. Their Macedonian 'committees' carried national schools, churches and philanthropical societies to Saloniki; and, when the work of converting the residents became more serious, they carried fire and sword."

"With a population of 130,000 and an annual commerce, excluding its coast-wise trade, to the value of $18,000,000, Saloniki is one of the most important cities in all southeastern Europe. It was a prize well worth the strenuous efforts made by the Bulgarians and Greeks. A great part of the exports from Bulgaria, southern Serbia and northern Greece pour through this port, while many of the imports for the same areas are distributed from here. The chief exports are grain, animals, animal products, star of roses, silk cocoons, wool, tobacco; opium and manganese. The imports are sugar, coffee, chemicals, machinery, textiles and iron goods. Moreover, Saloniki has thriving manufactures of morocco leather, arms and cutlery, and cotton yarn. Austria-Hungary and Great Britain held first places in this commerce."

"The city is built on a sheltered inlet, partly on a plain and partly on the slopes of Mount Kiosos. It is possessed of an excellent natural harbor, and, in 1901, new harbor works were thrown open. It is also well supplied with railways, one line running to Servian Nish, where it connects with the Paris-Vienna-Constantinople line, while another line connects it with Monastir. It is by far the most important strategic point in all of the new war theatre for the prosecution of the Allies' campaign."

TO TEST POOL HALL LAW.

Dallas, Nov. 5.—Much interest is manifested in a case set for hearing in court here tomorrow to test the validity of the local option pool hall statute enacted by the last Texas legislature. The case is one based on an application for an injunction by a pool hall proprietor against the County Attorney of Grayson County to prevent the authorities from interfering with his operation of a pool hall.

ARGUMENT FOR RACE SUICIDE.

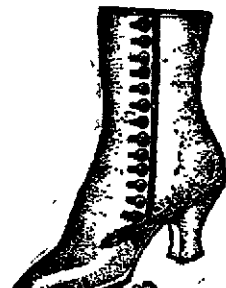

New York, Nov. 5.—Sociologists and members of the medical profession displayed a lively interest in the first presentation of "The Unborn," a play by Beulah Poynter, scheduled to be given at one of the New York theatres this afternoon. The new play promises to present an argument for race suicide. Its hero is a young wife who, because of a leprous and alcoholic strain in her blood, would have no offspring, and she pleads that she should prevent birth. The plea is made by the son who is born develops a she had feared.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

(Written for the United Press.)

Oh where are the terrors of suburbs? Commuting, oh where is thy sting? Since wife wears two in one garments The joys of the country we sing.

New York, Nov. 5.—Hurrah for the garment that leads a double life.

It may sound as if it were suitable for only the two faced woman, but indeed all and every woman hails it with delight, the Queen of the Commuters in particular.

You see it's a costume fashioned with a long, loose coat over a short, full skirt, giving thereby the simple appearance of a very smart and modish suit.

But be not deceived! When milady unbuttons said coat the double dealing is at once revealed. She stands forth resplendent in a stunning, semi-decollette afternoon or restaurant gown of delicate pastel tint. A deep facing of the same dark toned material as the coat around the bottom of the skirt is the link between two complete costumes in one, the key to the sartorial situation.

It is deep enough to reach up to the coat when that is donned and effect the perfect picture of a suit and yet, with the coat removed, the dark, deep skirtband lends richness to the dinner frock exposed, the bodice of which has touches of the same dark toned material to balance up the second of the two in one costumes.

A perfect toilette indeed for the commuter's bride. She can come in early and do her shopping in a fitting and fitted suit and then when fond husband asks her to stay in town to dinner and go to the theatre afterwards, she may accept with perfect equanimity and a perfect frock.

Hubby is always bound to ask her, too, when he sees what a ravishing toilette she has up her coat sleeve. Oh, no commuter's home should be without one of these two fold blessed frocks.

Another bit of double dealing that Dame Fashion is up to this season is an evening gown that becomes its own wrap. It also becomes its own wearer very much.

Fashioned of the fluffy tulle or the new "sole de soir," it is made with a detachable satin or velvet train falling from the shoulders in back and a like straight panel falling from the corsage in front. This train is so devised as to drape around the shoulders and fasten to the front panel, thereby forming an effective evening wrap.

This gown even goes one better and adds a third to its changing charms. By shedding the panel and train all together; presto, change! Another complete frock is displayed. A most triumphant triumphate, truly is this triotlet toilette.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

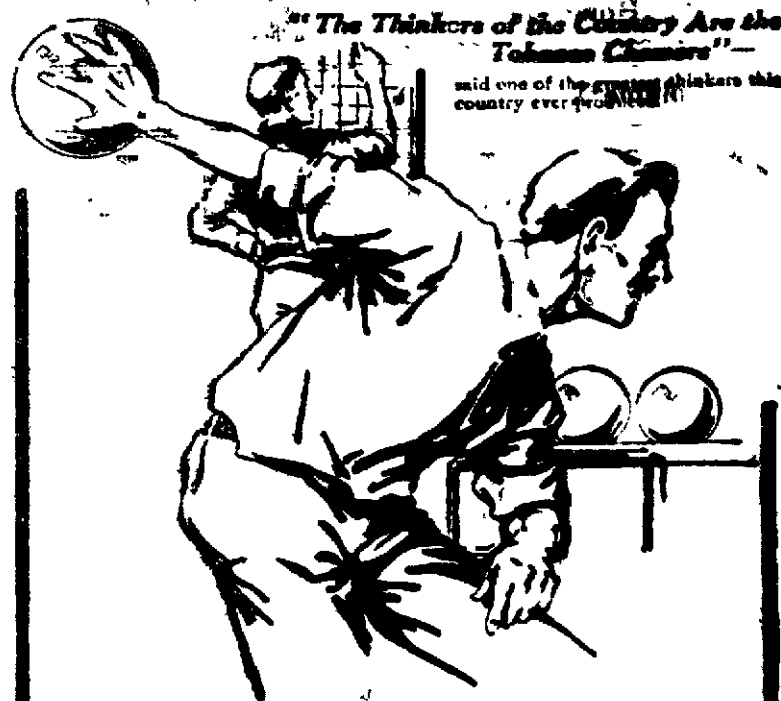

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generate poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone a enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or a raw, inflamed tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, a yellow complexion, others with bilious attacks, acid stomach, constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

FOOTBALL NOTES

TOMORROW'S GAMES

W. & J. vs. Pitt at Pittsburgh.
Swarthmore vs. Lafayette at Easton.
Lehigh vs. Penn State, at State College.
Penn vs. Dartmouth at Boston.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 5.—With Princeton, Cornell, Pitt, Colgate and Wash. Jeff held aloft by eastern critics as the five best foot ball teams in the eastern pigskin world, the struggle tomorrow afternoon at Forbes field between the blue and gold and W. & J. warriors is bound to lessen prestige of one of the two teams. The battle probably will be one of the rarest seen by pigskin fandom this year.

Dopesters today are figuring just how much Pitt has improved in offensive, particularly the forward pass, since her game with Allegheny last Saturday and just how much of a margin, if any, the blue and gold will have over the boys who will be hoisted, boosted and hailed as victors at the annual Alumni W. & J. banquet at the Fort Pitt hotel tonight.

Pitt followers are pointing out that the days of Spiegel and Fleming are no more. These two players in 1913 amazed the foot ball fandom. Spiegel was classed as one of the greatest offensive halfbacks. Fleming was ranked as a wonder at defensive backfielding.

Pitt has the hardest road toward victory. Should W. & J. take the long end of the count, she would be assured of her ranking, as the remainder of the W. & J. schedule is not difficult. But the blue and gold must beat both W. & J. and State, to achieve the heights.

The advance talk during the week on the Lehigh-State game seems to be with the State boys. Yet it is in the Lehigh boys to put up a winning fight. Swarthmore will be given the hard test tomorrow when she locks horns with Lafayette. Lafayette is a rapid machine and it's doubtful, according to the dope, is Swarthmore can claim victory. Dartmouth, in her game with Pennsylvania, should have no trouble whatever in handling the Quakers, when Penn's list of defeats is looked over.

NO BRING BACK LIBERTY BELL

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—A committee of members of the Philadelphia city council leaves today for San Francisco to escort the famous Liberty Bell back to its resting place in Independence Hall. During the summer the venerated relic has been on exhibition at the Panama-Pacific exposition, where it has been viewed by millions of visitors from all parts of the country.

The bell is to leave San Francisco November 11 for its return trip to Philadelphia. As on the journey westward across the continent an opportunity will be given the people of every state to view the historic relic. A stop of two days will be made at the San Diego exposition. Thence the route will be to Los Angeles, Maricopa, El Paso, San Antonio, Austin, Waco, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and New Orleans. Coming north from the latter city the train, according to present arrangements, will stop at Memphis, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Youngstown and Pittsburgh. From Pittsburgh a detour probably will be made into New York state on the way to Philadelphia.

All members of the O. U. A. M. are requested to meet at the club rooms at 10 o'clock next Sunday morning, November 7 to attend the West Side M. E. church in a body. N. L. S. 6

ROCKEFELLER, JR.'S OPINION.

New York, Nov. 4.—(By United Press.)—Concerning the new eugenic play, "The Unborn," produced in New York today by physicians and philanthropists, John D. Rockefeller, Jr. said:

"For the first time in dramatic history the perplexing problem of the limitation of undesirable offspring which has been engaging the attention of thoughtful eugenicists and sociologists the world over is dealt with on the stage in the play that we are to produce. The right of the child to be well-born and the right of the wife to decide about it are problems the solution of which society can no longer ignore."

The club owners and officials included in the party will attend the fourteenth annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Base Ball Leagues, which is to be held in the exposition city beginning next Tuesday. THOUSANDS SEEK HOME-STEADS.

Minot, N. D., Nov. 4.—Thousands of homesteaders were on hand here today for the beginning of the drawing of the Per Berthold reservation lands. These lands, amounting to 110,000 acres, have been opened to homestead settlement by order of the department of the interior. The lands at the time of the original opening of the Fort Berthold reservation four years ago were reserved by the government because of the presence of considerable coal deposits, but recently the department of the interior decided to open the lands to surface homesteading, the only reservation being that the title to any coal existing therein shall remain with the government for the benefit of the Indians of the Fort Berthold district.

Many brands of Portland cement are on the market, from which the farmer should select some well-known make, guaranteed by the local dealer to meet the standard specifications for cement of the U. S. Government.

The Government Says This About Portland Cement:

"Many brands of Portland cement are on the market, from which the farmer should select some well-known make, guaranteed by the local dealer to meet the standard specifications for cement of the U. S. Government."

"Portland" means merely a class of cement, just as "pine" means a class of lumber. Both may be fair, good, or very select. Don't risk using a cement of only fair quality. Insure permanent concrete by using only

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmothers' time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out, or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is miss-out-of-date. Nowadays buy ask any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of Grandma's Sage and Sulphur. "Grandma's" you will get this full old recipe which can be used upon to restore natural color to beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it is the only hair restorer and colorer that is natural and does not become greasy or sticky. It is the best hair restorer and colorer that has been known to man.

The Elk Hose Company Soon to Receive Their New Auto Chemical and Hose Truck

The Elk Hose Co. received word that their Auto Chemical and Hose truck will be shipped Saturday, November 6, 1915. It will arrive in Clearfield about Thursday, Nov. 11. This car is being built by the Harwood-Barley Manufacturing Co., of Marion Indiana. It is a type M, two ton, Indiana truck, mounted with the following fire fighting equipment.

- Two 35 gallon Holloway Soda and Acid tanks.
- One curved steel body for 1000 feet of 2 1/2 in. Hose and cushioned seats for 8 men in body, 2 men on driver's seat, 3 on rear platform.
- Two 3 gallon chemical tanks.
- One 6 pound fire axe with pick head.
- One 8 pound fire axe with pick head.
- One crow bar
- Two play pipe holders.
- One 200 foot capacity reel for 3-4 in. chemical hose
- 200 feet 3-4 in. chemical hose and nozzle.
- Four Dietz King tabular lanterns.
- One 12 foot roof ladder with folding hooks.

- Painted Fire Department red with gold lettering, "Elk Hose Co., Clearfield, Pa."

The new truck will be a modern equipped piece of fire fighting apparatus. The same equipment is being used by many of the large cities in connection with the steamers and autopumping cars. This new chemical truck will give Clearfield a much better fire protection and The Elk Hose Co. should receive good support from the people as the money to pay for it is being raised by public subscription when the truck arrives the firemen will call to see you in their new car and ask you to help them finance it. They have received good support from the manufacturing plants of Clearfield, which is proof that it is a much needed protection for Clearfield. The boys are preparing for a public demonstration. Watch the papers for the time, place and date as this will be a real treat to see this car in actual service. The entire Fire department with complete apparatus will parade some evening. All firemen are to watch for the call of the chief for this demonstration and parade. The car was bought through the local representative of the Harwood-Barley Manufacturing Company, Chief Burgess Hobart Callahan. Mr. Callahan got the Elk Hose Co., a special price on this car of $3150, F. O. B., Marion, Indiana, and the company would not except an order for another one at that price. Watch the papers for further notice and be prepared to give the boys one big lift as this is a big task, but a greater protection to Clearfield against the Demon, "Fire."
